

Every Dark Side

I could make, I could take

I could make it undo

Once or twice will I pay my dues

I could bet, I could get

I could lose what I got

Once or twice will I check what is going on

And the world is insane

There's no more resonable way for us to play (let's play)

The most foolish game

There's no guilt there's no fault

Just a deadline behind the one

Who pretends to own the world

Every dark side has a light

So you can light up the world

You said to set this world on fire until it's done

You could make, you could take

I could make it undo

Once or twice will you pay your dues

You could bet, you could get

You could lose what you got

Once or twice will you check what is going on

And a memory made

Is the future we take

Once or twice we will

Mistake, remake

There's no guilt there's no fault

Just a deadline behind the one

Who pretends to own the world

Every dark side has a light

So you can light up the world

You said to set this world on fire until it's done

Morgana Calligaris