

Lady from the Workers Homeland

Curly hair and bright blue eyes
Maybe you were from the sky
I didn't know
I just kissed you

Maybe I was drunk a bit
Like a bluesman past the show
It's not important
I couldn't miss you

Lady from the workers homeland
Walk with me, here take my hand
You know what?
I shall kiss you

It was exciting it was you
And confusing to say the truth
It was not easy
I did hurt you

But you were stubborn like a mule
And to my engine you were fuel
I didn't get it
And I escaped

Lady from the workers homeland
Walk with me, here take my hand
You know what?
I shall kiss you

And you even broke my nose
'cause you're the lady and the boss
Better not argue
Not with you

Broken noses can be fixed
All that matters can be fixed
Love is the answer
Isn't it?

Lady from the workers homeland
Walk with me, here take my hand
You know what?
I shall kiss you

Curly hair and bright blue eyes
Did you come right from the sky?
Who knows?
I just kissed you.
